TEACHERS IN PHILIPPINES.

The civil service commission has just received a call from the Philippine government for 150 male teachers, with salaries as follows: Twenty-five at $1,200; 70 at $1,000, and 55 at $800 per annum. It is desired to secure these teachers without unnecessary delay, and an examination will be held on Oct. 19-20 in various cities.

Peace has been established in the Philippines and the conditions of living are improving every month. This examination, therefore, affords an excellent opportunity for young men to enter an attractive service which offers excellent opportunities for promotion. Teachers appointed are eligible for promotion to the higher grades in the service, the salaries ranging from $900 to $2,000 for teachers and from $1,500 to $2,500 for division superintendents. The commission suggests that those who apply for this examination should be devoted to their profession and conscientious, energetic and successful workers.

For application blanks and further information concerning the scope of the examination, transportation, conditions of employment, etc., applicants should apply to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or to the secretary of the civil service board at any postoffice where letter carrier service has been established.

Persons who are unable to file their formal applications in order to receive admission cards to the examination will be authorized to take the examination, if they will notify the commission by letter or telegram in sufficient time to ship examination papers and arrange for their examination. Examinations will be held Oct. 19th and 20th at Chicago, Ill., Peoria, Ill., and Springfield, Ill.

Refuse substitutes. J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

"Whereas, in the loving Providence of the Heavenly Father, it has seemed wise to remove from our class circle Bradford Sturtevant, whom in these years of college association we had come not only to honor and admire for his intellectual brilliancy, scarcely surpassed has it been in the history of Illinois college; but also to love for his open, generous and great-hearted nature; and

"Whereas, in his death we feel the loss of a true friend and brother, whose place can never be filled; be it

"Resolved, That we, the members of the class of 1904, extend to his bereaved family and relatives our most heartfelt sympathy; and be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and copies published in the daily papers and in the College Rambler.

PARTELO'S CLAIM.

William Z. Partello yesterday made a motion for a new trial in his mandamus suit to compel the state auditor to give him a warrant for $40,000 on the grounds that a bill signed by Governor Yates and afterward vetoed in the meantime the bill having been filed. Mr. Partello has come into the possession of new and important evidence, it is claimed, and hopes to reopen the case in the lower court before appealing to the supreme court.

HOW DIFFICULT.

The Bunker Hill Gazette says: "A preacher came at a newspaper man in this way: 'You editors do not tell the truth. If you did you could not live; your paper would be a failure.' The editor replied: 'You are right, and the minister who will at all times and under all circumstances tell the whole truth about his members, alive or dead, will not occupy his pulpit more than one Sunday, and then he will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand, with white-wash brushes and pleasant words magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit and the press are the greatest of the great, saint-making (triumvirate). And he went on and on, looking very thoughtful, while the editor turned to the printer and said: 'The newspaper is the only one that tells the truth.'"

APPENDICITIS INSURANCE.

Insurance against appendicitis has been undertaken by the Royal Exchange Assurance company of England, which will issue policies at the rate of $1.25 a year for every $500. The holder is guaranteed all the medical, surgical and nursing expenses up to the amount insured. In commenting upon this impolitic policy, Lancet wonders how the applicant can answer the question, "Have you or any of your family ever suffered from appendicitis, or from any symptoms pertaining to it?" What is meant by "family," and is a pain in the belly a symptom of this disease only? Moreover has the patient the requisite medical knowledge either of himself or his family to give a discriminating answer? The insurance company's leaflet says that during 1900, 15,000 operations were performed in the United Kingdom for appendicitis. Were there so many in the world? The company estimates that about 1 in 400 persons would be attacked by the disease. But would the rate be the same in the United States with its appendicitis beliefs as in conservative England. And then how about all the other ailments and accidents which may happen to one. There are a thousand ways in which one may be sick or die; should the prudent man not secure a policy for each one of them? This would in time result in a distinct form of manumana, a morbid condition which might be called insurance disease. Could the companies devise a policy for these afflicted ones? American Medicine.

MITCHELL TO SPEAK.

John Mitchell, national president of the United Mine Workers of America, will be one of the speakers at the fifth annual memorial services over the remains of the miners who lost their lives at the battle of Virden on Oct. 12, 1898, to be held in Springfield Sunday, Oct. 11, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., under the auspices of the Springfield Sub-District No. 5, of the United Mine Workers of America. The services will be held in Calvary cemetery.

The procession will form in line at Sixth and Washington streets at 1:30 o'clock p. m. and will march to Calvary cemetery. The speakers who have been secured to make addresses on this occasion besides President Mitchell are, Rev. Fr. Clancy, of Riverton; Rev. Fr. Wilson, of Springfield, and Herman Perry, of Spring Valley.

STOLEN TOOLS.

Beardstown, Oct. 8.—Harry Able and Eugene McCarty, both of Peoria, were arrested here this morning by Officer Pro Tem John Langdon, who was notified by Sheriff Jackson, of Rushville, that they had stolen some tools and for him to hold them until he arrived. Both of the accused have been working on a cable which was being put in Rushville, Saturday night they became intoxicated and were discharged. Last night they secured three grips containing some tools belonging to Charles Prewett, who at that time was working on the cable. They left Rushville last night at 8 o'clock, arriving in this city at about 11 o'clock. They were arrested this morning and Sheriff Jackson, in company with the chief of police of that city, arrived to day and returned this afternoon with the prisoners. Their act will probably result seriously for them. They also cut the cable in several places before taking their departure from Rushville.

Mr. C. J. Edmonds, of Lincoln, Ill., traveling solicitor for a large printing house, who is well and favorably known throughout central Illinois, says under date of May 11, 1903: "I have used Hart's Honey and Horehound for the cure of Coughs and Colds in my family for the past two years and have always found the medicine to be all that it is recommended to be. We always keep a bottle of it in the house." Hart's Honey and Horehound is undoubtedly one of the best cough medicines ever compounded. It contains no opium or other stupefying drugs, and is the safest in use for small children. Large bottles 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Lee P. Alcott.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Jacksonville Citizens Show the Way

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back as the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes or any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Jacksonville citizen says:

F. A. Kaule, of 303 East Independence avenue, engineer at the Davis & Snyder ice plant on North Main street, says: "After being cured myself by Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Dr. H. Lee Hatch's drug store I recommended them to a friend who was suffering severely and a few days after seeing him almost as well as ever he said 'Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy.' I had such heavy bearing pains in the loins that I could hardly get up and I stooped down to do anything my back felt as if it would almost break before I could get straightened up. Medicine did not do me any good. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended I made up my mind to try them. I experienced a soothing sensation through the loins after the first few doses and in a short time the aches and pains disappeared."

SOCIAL AT WESTMINSTER.
The social given Thursday evening at Westminster church was a very happy affair throughout. It was a pleasant departure from the occasions where simply light refreshments were served, for, instead of these, tables were set and a generous supper of oysters was served to the young people who attended, and the attractive and attentive misses who waited on the tables, so abundantly supplied with the good things of life, almost caused some of the young men to lose their hearts before their appetites. The supper was excellent and ample, and in addition there were musical numbers and at each plate was a conundrum and the guessing of these caused much amusement. Altogether the affair was a happy one in all respects.

SPECIAL NOTICE.
There will be a missionary tea and sale of handkerchiefs, fancy articles and eatables at the home of Mrs. F. M. Doan Thursday, Oct. 8th, from 3 to 6 p. m. All friends are cordially invited.

WILL GO TO VIRGINIA.
The Illinois college football team expected to go to Decatur to day to meet Milliken university, but late yesterday afternoon Manager Wylder received word that the Milliken team was scarcely organized and could not hope to meet the Illinois team until later in the season.

Mr. Wylder immediately telephoned to Virginia and arranged for a practice game there to day. As many men as possible will be taken and an eleven composed largely of substitutes will be put in the field. Captain Brockhouse will not try to run up a score, but will seek to give all the men practice for the game at Lincoln next Friday.

Manager Wylder yesterday morning received a telegram asking him to bring his team to St. Louis Oct. 25 to play Christian Brothers' college. This fills the only date left on the Illinois schedule.

GAINED FORTY POUNDS IN THIRTY DAYS.

For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got on "benefit" from them. We purchased some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and he commenced taking them. Inside of thirty days he had gained forty pounds in weight. He is now fully recovered. We have a good trade on the Tablets. Holley Bros. Merchants, Long Branch, Mo. For sale by all druggists.

COLLIDED WITH WHEEL.

Mr. Kelly, employed at Swift's commission house, collided with a boy while riding his wheel home to dinner Thursday and was hurt badly and his wheel was put out of gear also. Some children were playing in the street, and as he approached he shouted to them, and all turned away except this boy, and just as Mr. Kelly drew near him he suddenly veered to one side to avoid the little fellow, who at the same time jumped right in front of the wheel. The boy seemed to be the least injured of the lot.

TWO OPPOSING VIEWS.

Important contributions to the discussion of the question, whether too much time can be spent in college, are published in the New York World.

President Edmund J. James of the Northwestern university is quoted as saying that a young man contemplating a business career should be through his college course before he is 20 or 21.

He holds that university culture often "stunts natural business ability, and this is an age when business ability counts for much."

Very often I advise a college student as young as 19 to drop his studies and go to work.

The years he would spend absorbing culture are of the greatest value for learning details of his future calling," President Wm. R. Harper, of the University of Chicago, takes the other view.

The great employers may say that the young man of 18 or 20 is of more value to them than the untrained man of 35, even though the latter may be ever so well educated but that is not the university view of the case.

To the university view of the case, the average young man there is no preparation in life equal to scholarship.

I should never advise a capable young man to leave his studies to embark in business.

ISTHMIAN CANAL TRAFFIC.

Prof. Emory R. Johnston, a member of the last isthmiian canal commission, occupies nearly fifty pages in the Quarterly Journal of Economics with a discussion of isthmiian canal traffic.

Two distinct investigations were made by the commission, one relating to cargoes and the other to tonnage of vessels.

The two results, says the Inter-Ocean, were compared with each other and with those of a study of the movements of ocean vessels made by the new Panama Canal company.

Pursuing this method, the commission estimated that the trade of the United States through the canal in 1899 would have had a volume of 2,828,013 tons, and a value of $105,769,127.

Of this $81,981,674 is classed as Atlantic trade and $23,787,458 as Pacific trade.

The trade between European countries and western South America, Central America, British Columbia and Hawaii would have increased the total to 6,702,541 tons.

These figures all apply to the commerce of the past.

With regard to the future the commission estimated that there would be an increase of 25 per cent in available traffic for the ten years following 1900.

At the end of the canal, tonnage was 5,001,798 tons in 1899, this would give 6,257,249 tons in 1900 and 7,000,000 tons in 1914, when the canal would be completed.

This estimate is based on the actual increase of sea-borne trade from 1889 to 1899.

After the canal is opened it is estimated that there will be a decennial increase in traffic of 42 per cent.

This would give a vessel tonnage in 1924 of 11,250,000 tons through the canal.

This estimate is based on the increase through the Suez canal in the first decade after it was opened, which was 125 per cent.

All these estimates are made on the assumption that the canal is to be cut on the Panama route.

The estimates would be larger for a canal on the Nicaragua route, because that could be used by sailing vessels and would have the advantage of shorter distances between American ports on the Atlantic and Pacific.

AN ALLURING BATE FOR THE DEMOCRACY.

It is stated that the recent panicky condition in Wall street was planned as a warning to the country that President Roosevelt is not a safe man in the white house, and also for the purpose of helping "the business interests" to command more influence in the next national election, says the Rochester (N. Y.) Times.

It is declared that the New York banks that usually support the market and boast that they are the corner stone of Wall street and prosperity could have averted the recent panic, but did not do so for political reasons, that they looked upon the time as most opportune for letting the market go to pieces and frightening the country, defeating Mayor Low in New York, and giving the president a body blow.

The whole idea, it is asserted, is to let the country see that "the business interests" have no confidence in the president, and that it is dangerous to have such a man in the White House.

This alleged movement against the president, it is declared, is prompted by anger at the president's attitude toward trusts and in not acceding to a demand of banking interests for immediate currency legislation. It is stated with considerable plausibility that it is the plan of these business interests to induce the Democrats to nominate a conservative candidate for president with the party reorganized in harmony with "business ideas," so that a formidable attempt to defeat President Roosevelt may be made.

Of course such a plan would mean the guarantee of an enormous campaign fund for the Democratic party, and it is altogether likely it presents inducement enough to produce Trojan efforts for the reorganization of the party for a pilgrimage after the Golden Fleece. In truth, the activities of the reorganizers of the Democratic party tend to bear out these disclosures as to the plans of certain corporation interests in a movement to defeat President Roosevelt.

There is no doubt of the bitter hostility to the president on the part of the corporation interests he has signified his intention to force, so far as it is in his power, to operate within the law. It would not be remarkable if these interests should absorb the Democratic party through their vast financial resources in an effort to check the campaign against unlawful trusts, and in view of the hopeless condition of Democracy, without real issues and without organization resources, it is by no means certain that an alluring offer of financial rehabilitation would not be seized at by the politicians disheartened by repeated defeats.

STATE PRESS.

INQUIRY INDEPENDENT: The Chicago Record claims to have discovered that Richard Yates is "seeking an alliance with Congressman Warner." To an extent, the Record is unintentionally correct. The governor is seeking and will probably form an alliance with about three-fourths of the Republicans in the state convention.

MONTGOMERY NEWS: Governor Yates' arrangement of the Chicago newspaper trust in his speech at Jacksonville Monday of last week contained a great deal of truth and will be endorsed by many leading Illinois Democrats as well as Republicans. The malignant attacks these papers, including the alleged Democratic sheet, the Chicago Chronicle, made upon John P. Altgeld, even after his term of office as governor expired, are still fresh in the memory of the people. When they determine to destroy a public man they go after him in season and out, and, as Governor Yates said, they strike 100,000 blows every morning for 365 days in the year, and their victim is powerless to defend himself. With singular unanimity they send their malign utterances broadcast over the state until they have accomplished their purpose. They hounded John R. Tanner to his grave and followed John P. Altgeld like birds of prey until death kindly stepped in between him and their venomous attacks. Even then some of them gloated over his lifeless clay! The Chicago trust press is a newspaper Mafia, banded together to destroy public men who do not obey their commands or blow to their wishes.

LINCOLN COURIER: The skies and the atmosphere at the state fair, on the streets of the capital city in the evening and in the lobbies of the Leland hotel at night, indicated a Yates state of affairs. There has been more or less grumbling here and there, but a noticeable per cent in Springfield, but the Yates spirit pervades. Governor Yates is a great deal like the minister in Arkansas whom the congregation was trying to dissolve partnership with. The only fault to be found with the minister was the single one—quarrelsome when drunk. As Governor Yates never becomes intoxicated and does not, even drink, he is consequently never quarrelsome. Republicans opposing Governor Yates are hard to please. Just look at the record of the present governor, and then say, if you dare, it is a questionable one.

RECEPTION GIVEN.

The reception tendered Rev. W. A. Moore and wife by the deaconess and stewardess boards was well attended and was a success financially. Rev. Mr. Moore desires to extend his thanks to the deaconesses and stewards for the spirit which prompted them to give the reception and also extends thanks to the friends and public in general for kindness shown and help given him. Rev. Mr. Moore is now at the annual conference. Mrs. Moore, who has been sick for several weeks, is still somewhat improved but is still confined to her bed.

WHAT IS RE-GO?

Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup is a preparation originally put up for physicians' use, and it is still largely prescribed by the best practitioners. Its wonderful cures of Constipation and all attendant evils, such as Nervous Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness and Indigestion, have led the manufacturers to believe that a great service would be rendered to their fellow men by offering to the public this famous medicine in convenient form. They have such faith in the merits of the medicine that they offer a trial bottle free to any one who will cut on this notice and present it to Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

For a pleasant physic take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Easy to take. Pleasant in effect. For sale by all druggists.

BLUE BOOK OF STATE

Issued by Secretary Rose—Contains Valuable Information

Secretary of State Rose has just issued the blue book of Illinois for 1902. It is a work of which any compiler may well be proud, for it is not only complete in every detail, but it is well edited and correct in its facts and figures. The book contains 671 pages of printed matter and 156 pages devoted exclusively to pictures of members of the state government, the last general assembly and buildings, monuments and scenes of note in this state.

The main body of the book contains all election figures, lists of the state officers from the formation of the government and during its territorial existence. There are half page portraits with biographical sketches of each man who has served as governor and a list of the congressmen and senators the state has sent to Washington. The different congressional, senatorial and judicial appointments of the state are given. There are maps of the state as at present apportioned. All the state boards revised to date are found in the first pages. Several pages are devoted to the names and politics of the county officers of the state. The declaration of independence, all the state constitutions and amendments to them, the constitution of the United States with explanatory notes by leading authorities are valuable sections of such a book. The present state constitution is annotated by Prof. C. W. Tooke, of the University of Illinois. The state constitution is followed by a detailed index of it covering two pages. The list of delegates to all the constitutional conventions of the state is valuable historical information. A history of Illinois from 1673 by periods is an essential that renders the book very worthy of mention. Illinois as a territory with all the officers and delegates to conventions and Illinois as a state with articles on each state department and its functions occupies well filled space. The department of justice contains the names of all the judges who have served on the higher courts and an article on the judicial system of the state which was prepared shortly before his death by Norman Freeman. All the apportionment acts since the organization of the state are printed. All the general assemblies including their officers and members from 1818 to 1902 are included in the facts. There are short sketches of the members of the last general assembly, followed by a table of counties of the state, when organized and how named. A list of unorganized municipalities of the state with complete information pertaining to the law, acts and charters under which each operates and the population, urban and rural of each county according to the last census form a chapter.

Probably the most readable and instructive portions of the book is the complete series of sketches of the education and charitable institutions of the state, each article by the head or secretary of the institution treated.

A list of all the public libraries in the state and the number of books in each has been compiled.

Another important feature are the sketches of public monuments in the state. These are treated by counties, each monument being described and its purpose explained.

In all 151 monuments are enumerated, most of them erected to soldiers to commemorate their deeds.

Then follows the large section devoted to election returns, which are very complete. There is a large table giving all the statistics of Illinois railroads and the names of each company. A number of pages are taken up with the reports of assessment of property by counties. There are reports of the receipts and disbursements of the state treasury. The index is divided into a number, one district to the constitution of the United States, one to the constitution of the state followed by a personal index containing the name of every man mentioned in the book by a general index of the whole volume, and then, to minute point and occupying fifteen pages.

The number of copies printed has been limited because of the expense and the work will not be for general distribution. It will be placed in libraries, public schools throughout the state and newspaper offices, and sent to the public officials of the state, counties and cities. Further than this the secretary can not go.

Only a limited number have so far come from the printer and the distribution will necessarily be slow.

HOMOEOPATHS.

2. Typho-Malarial Fever—Dr. J. H. Hallett, of Bloomington.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

The seventy-ninth annual session of Carrollton Baptist association convened at Palmyra, Rev. W. H. Dickman, of Manchester, preached the opening sermon. The topics discussed Wednesday morning were: "What Qualifications Should Be Required of a Candidate for Ordination to the Ministry?" Rev. A. J. Young, of Carrollton; "Pastoral Duties," Rev. T. C. Coffey, of Waverly.

The afternoon's session was devoted largely to business. Rev. Dr. Jay A. Ford, of Jerseyville, was elected moderator; Rev. A. H. Harnly, of Girard, clerk; George Greenwalt, custodian.

The program at night included the "Welcome to New Pastors," Rev. B. F. Duncan, Virden; response, Rev. J. J. Roach, Roodhouse, and a sermon by Rev. A. H. Harnly, of Girard.

About eighty visitors and messengers were present. Thursday's services were largely devoted to business. The doctrinal sermon was preached by Rev. O. E. Moffet, of Carrollton. At night Rev. Dr. E. B. Rogers, of Springfield, addressed the young people on the subject, "Bible Study a Help to Character."

PASTOR ACCEPTS.

WAVERLY

A Few Notes by a Recent Visitor to That Town

Beautiful for situation and surrounding is the second place in the county, the thriving little city of Waverly, located on one of the finest prairies in the country. To be sure, the immediate town site destroyed a splendid farm, but that could not be helped, for it is the place for a town and there is lots of land left, and it is tended by some of the best farmers in the country. The place itself is peopled by well-to-do citizens and active business men, and they are solid in character and substantial in worldly affairs, while the appearance of the city shows a degree of taste and culture seldom observed in western towns of that size. The central park is a noble monument to the men who planned the corporation and the solid dwellings all have an air of thrift and prosperity. The city is well supplied with churches and these generally are in a good condition and show a healthy growth and good degree of progress. The visitor found his way naturally to the Star store, where his good friend, Rob. Coe, is always to be seen during business hours ready to smile on all who come there to buy. Other business places were also visited and friends interviewed, among them Brother Arnold, who helps handle the mails that arrive at various times of the day, and it must be remembered that the correspondence of that thriving place and the amount of reading matter subscribed for is by no means small.

Another good friend is Robert D. Smith, who is a substantial citizen, and well liked by all who know him, while his estimable wife is a power for good in the large circle in which she moves. The banks of Waverly are solid and able to look after the financial interests of the place in good shape; while the various secret societies are in good shape. The press of Waverly is a credit to the place, and in fact, is hard to excel anywhere. The Enterprise is pursuing the even tenor of its way, dealing out truth and good advice each week in no small quantities, and is valued highly by its constituents. The Journal shines like a silk hat in its new quarters, and they show its prosperity of which the proprietors have good reason to feel proud.

The merry laughter and shouts of the pupils of the public school proved an irresistible attraction for the wandering scribe and thither he wended his way and entered the building along with the rest of the boys and girls, and had a pleasant visit with the high school. The schools of the place are certainly in good hands and it would be a pleasure to devote a day to them if circumstances permitted.

The little folks who first learn the rudiments of their future education are under the fostering care of Miss Inez Rogers, who faithfully endeavors to lay well the foundation of the all important superstructure, for all well know, when a pupil is started right it is easy to remain so during the rest of the course.

After her comes Miss Hattie Sample, who deals with the second grade, and she, too, is evidently alive to the all important duties of her position, and takes great care that the second story of the edifice is properly constructed.

Miss Edith Turner has the honor of caring for the third grade and she is evidently the right person for the position. As the flowers unfold more and more she is a faithful care taker of the blooms, which yield such precious fragrance.

The children in their progress up the hill of science find Miss Addie Epling read to receive them in the fourth grade and she leads them carefully along the way, pointing out what will be useful to them and trying to avoid that which is injurious.

Higher up is the fifth grade, over which Mrs. Clyde Moffet is the presiding genius, and she lends the grace of her presence and the influence of her example to the arduous labor in hand, and tries to make a bright as possible the way along which the seekers for learning must go.

Onward they climb until they come to the protecting care of Miss Ethel Allen in the sixth grade and here, as elsewhere, they are carefully guarded while the truths which pertain to the studies in that place are taught with care and intelligence.

Miss Ethel Finley kindly receives the seekers for knowledge into the seventh grade, and as they advance they are treated more and more as persons who must rely on themselves and every effort is put forth to develop the minds of the pupils, and imbue them with correct principles and ideas.

The last one of the grades is the eighth, and here the pupils are fortunate in having for an instructor Miss Ella Bradley, a lady enthusiastic in the cause of education and eager to impart all possible knowledge to the young people under her care. More and more they have the appearance of young ladies and gentlemen as they pass from one grade to another, and at last they find themselves in the top story.

Here is the high school, appropriately named in this case physically, as well as intellectually, for it is in the top story of the structure, where the able instructors are Miss Mary Laycock and Mr. F. S. Dennis, and before the visitor who sat on the platform during the opening exercises was an assembly of young people, whom it was truly a pleasure to behold and into whose faces it was a pleasure to look. Intelligence shone in every face and a serious purpose to accomplish the object in view was evident on the part of all. The great possibilities in the future of those young gentlemen and ladies gave room for many flights of the imagination as they were pictured, not necessarily occupying high positions in the state or nation; but pursuing useful careers as noble members of society, scattering seeds of kindness and rooting up tears, replacing them with smiles; bestowing on their less favored fellow men the benefits of the superior advantages they were enjoying to so good a degree, and in all ways proving themselves worthy members of society.

But the tap of the bell called for order and dispelled all day dreams, as the efficient principal, Mr. F. S. Dennis, assisted at the piano by Miss Laycock, as leader of the music, conducted the opening exercises, during which the young people departed themselves with propriety and showed that they knew the value of good behavior and this opinion of them was largely augmented when they listened to a discourse from the visitor without yawning, much as they might have felt like it, or showing any signs of weariness or fatigue during the trying ordeal. Let not the producer of literary artesian wells be too much encouraged to try his hand or tongue on this audience for their patience may be overtaxed and not always hold out so well as it did on this occasion.

As the presiding genius over the entire school, and like the skillful commander who successfully marshals his forces and conducts them to victory, is Prof. J. C. Walters, the efficient superintendent, who has the oversight over the entire building and the excellent spirit which exists and admirable discipline which prevails throughout the building all show that a master mind and hand are at the helm.

From all appearances the public schools of Waverly are in good hands and are doing an excellent work. It was with genuine regret that the visitor said good bye and with a determination to repeat the visit, if possible, before the expiration of the school year, if the pupils think they could endure another affliction of the kind suffered on this occasion.

TO VISIT MORGAN LAKE

Mayor John R. Davis, the members of the city council and city officials generally will go to Morgan lake this afternoon for the purpose of looking over the ground relative to the location of a public park for the city. All citizens who are interested in this question are requested and urged to be present at this time and suggestions will be welcomed.

Not only the civic authorities, but many of the business men are beginning to keenly realize the necessity of a public park, and it is hoped that sufficient interest can be aroused to insure the success of such an undertaking. In this respect the city is far behind towns of its size and the natural location of the proposed site is such that in a few years, if the proper steps are taken, we can boast of one of the most beautiful parks in the state. It is hoped that a large number of citizens will show their public spirit by meeting with the city officials at the lake this afternoon.

COMES SATURDAY.

The superb military band with Jno. A. Himmelein's "King of the Desert" company is said to be one of the finest musical organizations on the road with any company. It is under the direction of Vincent F. Irolli, who for years was solo clarinetist and assistant conductor of the famous Elgin Watch Factory band. The band consists of fourteen pieces and every member is a soloist of note. The attraction will appear at the Grand next Saturday matinee and night, and the band will give two concerts during the day, one at noon and the other at 7 o'clock, in front of the theatre. Classical and popular programs of an entirely different nature from what is usually rendered by show bands will be presented.

CHURCH LUNCHEON.

In accordance with an annual custom the ladies of State Street church served a noon day lunch yesterday for members of the church and congregation. Afterward the ladies spent a pleasant hour socially.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN SIGNS?

A mark, note, token or symptom, indicates that by which anything may be known; that is, we are forewarned if evil is to befall us, or we have the pleasure of anticipation if the signs betoken a fortunate occurrence. Accidental occurrences all have their signs, every disease has its symptoms. The point is to heed the former, and counteract the effect of the latter. Spells of sickness follow indigestion and stomach disorders, belching, flatulencies, and dyspepsia are signs of sickness. People that believe in these signs and know that they are true from experience, can get immediate relief and a speedy cure by the use of Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Sold by druggists for 25c per box. Only one for a dose. See F. L. Ledford, Jacksonville, for full particulars.

... F. L. LEDFORD ...

Too Small For His Age.
A gentleman who had employed an old colored woman to do a piece of rather delicate cabinet work for him was pleased beyond his expectations with the result.

"Will you show his satisfaction," he asked, "the price the old man asked, took from the sideboard a bottle of extraordinarily fine whisky that had just been sent him and poured a little into a glass."

"Uncle," he inquired, "have you ever tasted any whisky fifty years old?"

"No, sah; I never has," replied the old lady, his voice trembling with anticipation.

"Well, try that, then," said his employer, handing him the glass, "and tell me what you think of it."

The old fellow received it reverently, took one sip and raised his eyes in ecstasy.

"Oh, sah, dat 'um sho'ly de fines' bovine de taste evah taste. But," with an anxious glance at the very small quantity in the glass, "don't you know, it is just a little small for me."

"It is perhaps needless to add that this little criticism had the desired effect.—Lippincott's.

Here's a Delay!
Hostetter—Did you ever see a completion which showed its make-up more frankly than that of Miss Lilliput?"

Hostetter—And yet Harlow calls her his dear creature.

Hostetter—He calls her a dear creature because of her shabby skin, I presume.—Boston Transcript.

No Chance For Navy.
"Aren't there some jealousies in your progressive eucure club?"

"No, indeed," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "When we buy prizes we are always careful to select things that no one really wants, so that the winner will not be an object of envy."—Washington Star.

Rather Laid.

She—Really, I feel quite ashamed to be seen with you in that suit of clothes.

He—Why? What's wrong with them?

She—I don't want people to think I'm both blind and deaf.

Completed.
"Jack has developed a perfect mania for borrowing umbrellas."

"Why? What's his object?"

"Why, he's trying to find the one he borrowed from Jones and loaned to Smith. It belongs to Brown, who loaned it to Jones."—Baltimore News.

Might Be Worse Off.
She—It must be awful to be buried alive—squeezed in a coffin and unable to move.

He—Yes, indeed. I tell you, Jane, there are worse places than this flat if you only stop to think about it.—Leslie's Weekly.

Infant Frivolity.
"My husband's mother said that a silver thimble was a good thing for a baby to cut his teeth on."

"Did you try it?"

"Yes, but baby swallowed the thimble."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Met.
"The satisfied," said the angry tailor, "that you intend to beat me out of this money."

"All right," chuckled the happy debtor. "If you're satisfied I am."—Baltimore News.

In Doubt From Appearance.
Automobile—Say, where can I get some repairs made? I've met with an accident.

Farmer—What's aye want? A machine shop or a hospital?—Motor.

At the Grating.
Teller—I cannot cash this check, madam, unless I know who you are.

She (haughtily)—I wouldn't accept the money anyway from any one who doesn't know who I am.—Life.

Department of Agriculture.
Secretary Wilson of the department has received from Professor M. E. Jaffe of the University of California the results of some interesting experiments conducted by the latter as to the value of fruits and nuts when these articles constitute an integral part of the diet.

Studies were made of the dietaries of five fruitarians, two women and three children. The experiments showed in every case that, though the diet had a low protein and energy value, the subjects were in apparently excellent health and had been so during the five or eight years they had been living in this manner.

Washington's Filtration Plant.
The contract for the proposed water filtration plant was let nearly six months ago, but there was a long delay in starting actual work, and very little progress was made for a time after work was finally begun.

The ponderous steam shovels, however, which have been busily engaged during the last month have excavated an immense amount of material, and with the present rate of progress it is believed the plant will be completed by Jan. 1, 1908, the time originally set by congress.

Then all of the water used in this city will be drawn from these filter beds, which are located near the Soldiers' home grounds. The wait has been a long one, but now there is real cause for congratulation.

The proposed system is regarded as unquestionably the best and most carefully designed ever installed in this country. The delay for the most part may be said to have been due to the conscientious efforts of those in charge to leave no stone unturned toward making the filtration plant of the national capital a model one in every respect.

MacArthur on Descriptions.
General MacArthur, commanding the department of California, in his annual report says on the subject of descriptions: "One thousand three hundred and forty-four men deserted during the fiscal year. Of this number 914 were from the permanent garrisons in the department and represent approximately 19.42 per cent of the main strength thereof for the year. The remaining 430 were from recruits, casuals and regiments passing to and from the Philippines."

"In the light of past experience and of present conditions it seems apparent that the United States as a nation must accept desertion as a necessary evil unless enlightened public opinion can be induced to realize that it is not only inimical as it affects the army as a separate organization, but in remote consequences is a menace to the stability of our institutions through its corrupting effect upon the military ideals of the population that must furnish the improvised troops upon which the republic must always rely in time of war."

Government Printing Office.
The multiplicity of controversies in the government printing office from time to time has suggested that the office might be administered with more gratifying results if it were placed in some one of the executive departments.

The difficulty over the status of Assistant Secretary Miller has emphasized this opinion of late, and it is held in good authority that the president has concluded that it would be wise to place the office in the department of commerce.

This will make Secretary George B. Cortelyou the executive official in control of the office and lead to a number of changes in the method of administering the work of the printing office.

One Military or Political?
The other night a strenuous polemic wandered down from the capital grounds and entered the offices of the printing office, passing by a slumbering watchman. The guardian dreamed that he was being bothered by gasoline fumes and awakened. He saw the polemic rising, crossed among some documents relating to vital statistics.

"Supposing it to be an ordinary cat, the watchman threw a paper weight with good effect. He hit the cat."

As a result of the confusion that followed, a considerable portion of the census building could not be occupied the next day, and a large number of clerks was given a holiday at government expense.

The Remains of John Paul Jones.
Secretary Miller's attention has been called to the fact that an monument marks the grave of John Paul Jones in Paris. In the course that the remains of the distinguished American sea captain were found in the city of Paris.

Under instructions from the secretary general of the United States, the remains of John Paul Jones were removed to the United States and are now in the custody of the War Department.

TO ACT AS ESCORT.

Capt. E. C. Vickery received a telegram Thursday night from the adjutant general informing him that Co. I will go to Carrollton Sunday morning at 7:20 o'clock to serve as escort at the funeral of General Carlin.

Gen. William E. Carlin, a retired brigade commander in the regular army, died Sunday on a railway train near Livingston, Mont., while traveling in the western country for the benefit of his health.

General Carlin's old home was at Carrollton, where he had a fine residence. Since his retirement he has spent much of his time in Carrollton with his sister, Mrs. Hardin, and his brother, Maj. Walter E. Carlin, at Jerseyville. In 1901 he donated a soldiers' monument to the city of Carrollton, which was erected in front of the court house.

In this connection it may be mentioned that Carlinville was named after the late governor, Thomas Carlin, and that General Carlin was a nephew of the distinguished chief magistrate of Illinois.

STILL MISSING.

The strange absence of Frank G. Snyder, who was to have married Miss Blackburn Wednesday night, is still unexplained. The letter received from him was mailed in Chicago and in it he intimated that he meditated suicide, saying that when the missive was received he would be in eternity. The young man's relatives in Missouri are still at loss to explain his conduct or in any way give information as to his whereabouts.

THE DEATH RECORD

End of Life's Journey for Hugh Wilson and E. A. Goodrich

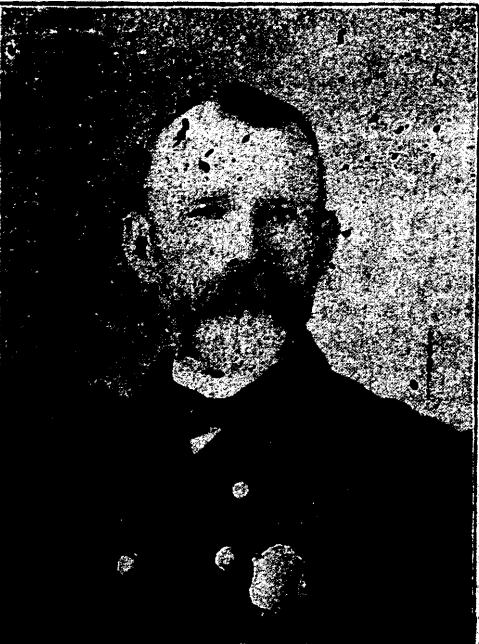

—Were Well Known

Citizens

GOODRICK.

Elijah A. Goodrich passed from earth Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock after a prolonged illness lasting over a year. Death came as a relief to suffering which he had borne with patience and fortitude.

He was a son of Joel and Rachel Goodrich and was born in this city Dec. 11, 1842, and this city has ever been his place of residence. For many years he was connected with the Goodrich clothing store on the north side of the square and under the administrations of Mayors Schoenfeld, Tyrrell and Fairbank served efficiently as chief of police. He was actively identified with the G. A. R. and was a member of Matt Starr post of this city. He was a member of Co. I,

THE LATE E. A. GOODRICK.

101st Ill., and was held in the highest esteem by his comrades. As a soldier he was brave and determined and his loyalty and patriotism were always in evidence during and after the great struggle.

He was well known throughout the city and county and his gentle manner and uprightness of life made him highly respected in this community. Mr. Goodrich was a staunch friend and could always be trusted and relied upon to deal charitably with all men. He was also a member of Illini lodge, No. 4, I. O. O. F., and of the Modern Woodmen. Mr. Goodrich was never married. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Sibert, of Dallas, Texas; Mrs. Emma and Miss Ida Goodrich, of this city, and three brothers, Charles E., Albert W. and Dr. M. H. Goodrich, all of this city.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Centenary church with services in charge of the G. A. R. WILSON.

Hugh Wilson entered into rest at his home, 814 Grove street, Thursday morning at 7 o'clock, after an illness of several months. Decedent was closely identified with the business interests of Jacksonville for many years and was known as one of the substantial men of the community. He was of unswerving integrity and although quiet and unostentatious in manner he was a man of influence and strong personality.

The greater part of his life he was engaged in the planing mill business and for many years conducted a planing mill where the Rader & Nunes marble works are now located. After leaving this business he devoted himself to contract work and when the new high school building was erected he was employed by the board of education as superintendent of construction, the appointment being a high compliment to his ability and to his integrity.

Mr. Wilson was a man who never failed to perform any duty and he was conscientious in all that he undertook and his wife, Mrs. Mary Wilson, is left to care for the household.

Decedent was born Nov. 10, 1832, in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to this country in May, 1855. He arrived in Jacksonville in May, 1859, and this city has since been his abiding place. He was united in marriage April 16, 1858, to Miss Isabelle Smith, of this city, who survives him. He is also survived by two sons, Hugh M. Wilson, of Chicago, and William T. Wilson, an attorney of this city. Two sons, John C. and Alexander D., died in infancy.

The funeral will be conducted from his late residence this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with services in charge of Rev. R. O. Post and Rev. F. S. Hayden.

NEWMAN.

W. R. Routt received a telegram Wednesday telling him of the death of his nephew, Henry J. Newman, in Pennsylvania. Decedent was a son of Benjamin Newman, who formerly resided here. He was the youngest son and left Chicago some years ago for Salt Lake City to enter the employ of the New York Life Insurance company. Later he was given the territory of Colorado, with headquarters in Denver, and he became one of the highly valued district agents of the company. A year or two ago his health began to fail him and he had recently undergone an operation in Pennsylvania. He was about 37 years of age and is survived by his wife and one son.

PAWNEE'S WILD WEST.

Those of our readers who failed to attend Pawnee Bill's Historic Wild West last night will regret it very much to day. The performance was a startling surprise, the attractions were rare and interesting, and the several large features were revelations to the most critical. The wonder was that such a remarkable exhibition could be given for so reasonable a price. Pawnee assumes the aspect of a public benefactor.—Youngstown News.

FUNERAL SERVICE.

The funeral of Mrs. Hiram Decker and Mrs. Nancy Bedwell took place Wednesday at the late home of the former near Little Indian. Rev. Joseph Winterbottom was in charge of the services and spoke in appropriate terms of the deceased, with whom he had long been acquainted. Suitable music was furnished by a choir, some of the songs which were favorites of the deceased being sung. Burial was in Arcadia cemetery and the cortege was a very long one. The caskets were lowered into the same grave, which was covered with flowers. The funeral services were very largely attended for Mrs. Decker and Mrs. Bedwell were widely known and the circumstances surrounding their deaths were unusual.

THE SNY LEVEE.

The hearing of the levee assessment has been continued by consent to Nov. 2. The commissioners have agreed to employ Civil Engineer Bushnell, of Indiana, to resurvey the district.

It was decided to have the commissioners employ a competent engineer to go over the route of the Sny and find how much it would cost to complete the drainage channel, by keeping in the bed of the Sny wherever practicable; that all parties would abide by the estimate of the engineer, and would agree to have the commissioners make an equitable assessment on all the lands benefited. It was nearly unanimous to drop the creeks for the present. When the commissioners and engineers report it is expected that the present assessment will be set aside and that the former order entered by Judge Barnes will be modified to conform to the new estimate. The report is expected to be presented by Nov. 2.—Pittsfield Democrat.

Dr. M. H. Smith of Manchester Passes Away While Enroute Home From Masonic Meeting.

Dr. M. H. Smith, of Manchester, died on a train near Dwight, Ill., Thursday afternoon. The deceased had been to Chicago to attend the sessions of the Grand Masonic lodge and was on his way home. A number of Masons were on the train and E. E. Crabtree and H. D. Atkins, of this city, took charge of the remains, which were transferred from the train to an undertaking establishment in Dwight. Dr. Smith was a druggist in Manchester and had lived there for many years. He is survived by his wife and several children. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of his death.

WANT LOWER RATES

Business Men of Springfield and Decatur ask Governor's Aid

Springfield, Oct. 8.—A delegation of Springfield and Decatur business men called on Governor Yates this morning to solicit his interest in their fight for lower freight rates in this state. In the party were Henry Dirksen, B. A. Lange, Con Giblin, of the Springfield Business Men's association, and Messrs. Mueller, Tate and Hurst, of the Decatur association, all of whom were actively engaged in the petition before the railroad and warehouse commissioners last March, asking for a reduction of the rates.

George Mueller, of Decatur, presented the claims of the business men of the towns and cities of Illinois, who had appeared before the railroad board. He told the governor that they had prepared their petition for the reduction, had furnished the evidence showing the higher rates in this state compared with those of other states and had proven that Illinois towns were discriminated against in favor of the larger cities.

Governor Yates replied that he could not undertake to give an answer off hand that he never interfered with the work of the various boards and never rescinded their orders without a full hearing of the case on its merits. He promised the committee he would take up the matter at once and make an investigation.

CLAIM DAMAGES.

J. L. Veronee, one of the proprietors of the Lillian Mortimer Dramatic company, has filed a $1,000 damage suit against Dr. W. A. Gray, owner of the opera house. The complainant alleges that he had a contract with Dr. Gray for a week's stand here and that after the house came under the control of the western circuit the contract was canceled. Subsequently arrangements were made whereby the company played four nights.

ALTON'S RECEIPTS.

The reports show that on one day last week the receipts of the C. & A. road from passenger fares amounted to $25,000. The increase was largely due to the Illinois state fair. The road is doing an immense business all the time, but this figure is an abnormal one.
